

In the face of fear, failure and rejection

I DO fear failure and rejection, and I guess most people do. But what I also do – or what I do not – I do not let myself hold back from my fear. I learned that I have the capability to cope with my fear, finding ways to deal with it, acting in spite of it, yes even making use of it, all in order to grow mentally and to get stronger than I ever was.

26. Jun 2016