The walker between walls

Life just seems so full of connections.

Most of the time we don't even pay attention to the depth of life.

We only see flat surfaces.